

The Anonymity That Is... NOT

Title: What does it Take to Start a New Fellowship?
(A Resentment and a Coffee Pot)

“I don’t like so-n-so...”

“They don’t do that like...”

“Why don’t we just...”

Well, recovering or not, we are still humans. We still have the “free-will” that came in the original operating system.

So, we have a resentment. We know we have-to work it out. Often, we must try a “geographical cure” even though we are aware that rarely accomplishes a thing.

The new location has different accoutrements and we add our “own” visual touches.

We have a new coffee pot.

New room.

Same resentment.

Oh...and same shitty coffee.
